

KATTI POWER

Katti Power is a two-time world champion vocal coach, vocal health expert, speaker, and author of the international bestselling book, Turns Out I'm HOT After All: How I Got My POWER Back After a Breakup (and how you can, too, no matter what's happened in your life). She helps singers, actors, and speakers book roles and gigs, win competitions, overcome stage fright, and find a unique style that's all their own, all without ever experiencing voice loss. She's also the Founder of the POWER Academy of Master Coaches where she trains and certifies vocal coaches to teach her vocal method to clients of their own. She has been a sought-after judge for regional, national, and international talent competitions. She does the bulk of her coaching online from her home in Las Vegas, NV.

When she's not coaching, writing, judging competitions, or rubbing her sweet rescue kitty Marmalade's belly, she can be found in her favorite place - the kitchen - creating authentic Italian dishes from scratch. She longs to visit Italy to study cooking with nonnas on the Amalfi Coast.

Learn more at www.singwithoutlimits.com and at www.kattipower.com.